JURY ACQUITS FOUR MEN CHARGED WITH JUGGLING THE TWO BITS OF IVORY

VERDICT RETURNED ALMOST INSTANTLY

CASE WAS PROSECUTED BY COL.
JOHN C. JONES, FORMER STATE
ATTORNEY—NO TESTIMONY AS TO GAMBLING.

Within ten minutes after retiring from the court room to consider the evidence and render judgment, the jury in the case of the State of Florida versus H. F. Thompson, H. E. Quigg, W. K. Perkins and H. T. Titus, four Daytona men charged with violating the statute against participation in games of chance, returned a verdict of acquittal.

The trial of the case began in Volusia county criminal court, at DeLand, shortly after 2:00 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, and ended five hours later when the jury announced that the men were not guilty.

Witnesses for the state were Joseph Osborne, Geo. H. Clark, and Mrs. Joseph Osborne. The defendants, who were tried collectively, pleaded not guilty, but offered no other testimony. The gambling was alleged to have taken place on the night of April 22d, in a room at 15 Orange avenue. The principal witness for the prosecution was Mr. Osborne, who testified that he watched the men, through a window, and that some of them were handling "cubes" and money; this, he believed, constituted a game of chance known as "crap-shooting." The testimony of the other two witnesses was along the same line, but not as replete with details as was Mr. Osborne's. The upper portion of the building, of which the room mentioned is a part, is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Osborne as a residence.

The evidence adduced was not strong enough, in the opinion of the six jurymen who passed upon the case, to remove all reasonable doubt of the defendants' guilt, and therefore could not warrant their conviction.

Judge Bert Fish's charge to the jury was full and to the point, and is regarded as an able and fair interpretation of the testimony and the law applicable to the case. Each member of the trial jury is a citizen of DeLand.

County Solicitor Roy P. Hamlin was ably assisted in the prosecution by former state's attorney, John C. Jones, of Orlando. The interests of the defendants were well cared for by Attorneys Murray Sams, of DeLand, Frank W. Pope, of Palm Beach, and Frank W. Pope, Jr., of Daytona. Throughout the continuation of the trial, the court room was packed with interested spectators, who greatly enjoyed the one and a half hours' argument by counsel for and against the accused.

A number of other criminal cases have been disposed of in the criminal court, this week, as follows:

Ben Jenkins and David Duval pleaded guilty to the illegal sale of liquor and were sentenced to pay a fine of $100 each or serve five months on the county roads.

A fine of $100 each was imposed on Will Robinson, Doc Robinson, John Robinson, Sidney Goodrich and Cleve Goodrich, all of Oak Hill. The crowd had pleaded guilty to gambling. Judge Fish, before passing sentence, stated that Oak Hill was an unincorporated place and had no municipal government to look after its citizens. He said that reports had come to him that it was not safe for a woman to go to the postoffice at Oak Hill without hearing vile and profane language emanating from a crowd that habitually gambled. "It is my duty to look after the welfare of the citizens of Oak Hill," said Judge Fish, "and I am going to do it. You will each pay a fine of $100 and costs or serve 90 days on the county roads," concluded his honor.

E. C. Robinson and Jim Robinson each paid $25 for publicly using profanity.

M. Pinkney, Joe Robinson, C. Nicholson and John Robinson were each fined $5.00 and costs for gambling.

CITIZENS ARE URGED TO OBSERVE CLEAN-UP DAY

In accordance with a state-wide movement for a clean-up day in the cities and towns of Florida during the week from May 3 to 8, it is urged that this period be adopted in Daytona and the citizens and property owners generally are requested to devote their attention next week to the improving of the appearance of their property by having all trash and unsightly objects removed. This city has in the past borne the reputation of being an unusually well kept municipality and Daytonians should strive to retain that reputation by each one doing his share in keeping his property in good order.

ENTERTAINED AT CARDS WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

Mrs. A. G. Hunt entertained with four tables of auction at the prettily situated Hunt residence at 31 Second avenue, Wednesday afternoon. Following the game other ladies joined the players for tempting refreshments. Miss Nan Walsh, of Port Huron, Mich., took first honors; Mrs. F. N. Conrad, of this city, second, and Mrs. J. B. Uebelhoer, of Seabreeze, held the third high score.

ED. PIERCE
DAYTONA BEACH

By ETHEL WARD SMITH

(Copyright, 1912, by W. W. D.)

"Vapid, pretentious, unintelligent," was the way she described life as it presented itself to his distorted view.

Then he became very much ashamed of the misanthropic utterance. He glanced about his lonely but elegant home, he looked into a mirror and noted the unusual glow of health upon his cheeks, he realized that he had not a real care in the world. Outside the birds were singing, the flowers blooming, all radiant nature breathing purity, peace and promise. The sun shone at its brightest. Its rays glorified the redolent garden. Beyond lay a sportsman's paradise—stables, kennels, garage and hangar. It represented the latest facilities for pleasure.

"Yes, with all this, I may well be ashamed of myself for finding nothing worth living for!" murmured Burt, self-reproachfully.

Burt went out to the spot where the hangar was located. With the assistance of his hired man the superb biplane he operated was wheeled out.

He had become quite an expert aviator and enjoyed his air trips greatly. Under his expert direction the machine struck an upward lateral course, a thing of life and beauty. He enjoyed the rare exhibition of pure air and bird-like speed immensely.

Ten miles accomplished, Burt volplaned to a meadow stretch to adjust a trivial defect in the control mechanism. He had just got in trim to resume his cloud work, when a shout down the highway attracted his attention.

With both interest and indignation the amateur aviator observed a lad of about fourteen running towards him as if for his life.

Struggling behind him, but in hot pursuit, were three men. They were shouting and gesticulating. One carried a cane, which he waved menacingly. A second had picked up a lot of stones. These he hurled with varied aim after the running boy.

"You young rascal!" roared the man in advance. "Drop it, I tell you, or I'll have you jailed!"

But the little fellow never heeded the threatening cries and actions of his pursuers. He forged straight ahead, momentarily nearing the spot where Burt stood.

"This way! This way!" shouted Burt, as the boy came nearer. "Climb under the fence."

"Oh! oh!" yelled the lad just at that moment, in frantic pain.

"Brace up!" cried Burt, leaning over and lifting the lad clear of the entangling wires. "Now, then, who are those men?"

"Villains! They'll kill me—and you, too. Oh, they're coming!"

They were, indeed, but Burt was going. He lifted the helpless lad in his arms bodily, and made a run for the biplane.

"Don't get frightened," he ordered, placing his charge in the seat behind the pilot post and hurriedly strapping him in.

"Quick, mister! oh, quick as you can!" insisted his passenger, with a terrified glance at the fence.

The three pursuers had arrived. One tried to jump the fence and his feet tripped and he fell with a thud. A second attempted to crawl under the lower wire and his clothing had become entangled.

"Don't you interfere with that boy or you'll be liable to the law!" he shouted at Burt.

The latter paid no attention to the threat. He sprang to the pilot seat. Chug-chug—whirr! and the biplane went aloft like an arrow.

The dismayed and chagrined men below vainly vented their wrath on the rescuer who had baffled them.

The little fellow sat spellbound with delight at the rare sensation of an air flight he had never dreamed of. For the first time in his life Ralph Burt had found his mind invested with real human interest. It elevated him. An actor in an exciting and unusual circumstance, he was eager to learn what lay behind the strange incident of the hour.

Soon he knew all about it, for when the biplane landed on home ground he took his passenger into his library and questioned him.

It came out that he and his sister, Eleanor, were practically prisoners in the power of one of his three pursuers, Giles Warden. Fearing foul play, the sister had that day given him the will of her dead father, with the injunction to place it in the hands of some lawyer for safety and action. Hence the pursuit.

"Righting a wrong—quite heroic!" commented Burt's lawyer, when he was made aware of the facts in the case. "Why, your new experience has made you look like a new man. I'll soon have this affair straightened out."

It was with a good deal of surprise that Ralph met "Sister Eleanor" a week later. He had supposed her to be a little girl. Instead, confusedly, he listened to the ardent thanks of a beautiful young lady.

"You have saved Miss Morley from captivity and the loss of her fortune," advised the lawyer. "She may continue to need a friend."

Day by day Ralph Burt's heart warmed to new impulses. There came a finality presaging lasting contentment. It was when Eleanor became something more than a friend—his wife.

ALANDALE

ALANDALE, April 18.—Although the winter has closed at Ye Inn and a number of our winter people have left us, we still have something doing. During the last two weeks there have been several very enjoyable informal dances and the meetings of the five hundred club.

At the Sunday evening services at the club house the attendance was good; some 25 enjoyed the singing and Rev. Mr. Oates' talk. Madames Gates, Brock and Fosnard sang a trio and Mrs. Gates a solo. On next Sunday Rev. Gilbert Frederick, of Chicago, will speak and there will be some good singing. A welcome is assured all who will attend and an invitation is extended to all.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rusk and C. Andrews left for their home in the Catskill mountains, to return early in the fall.

Mrs. Sterling, who wintered at Ye Inn, and has been staying with Mrs. Howes, left for her home in Baltimore on Wednesday.

Mrs. and Miss Mobley, who have occupied Eastcourt during the winter, left on Thursday for their home in Asheville, N. C., and will no doubt return here next season.

Mr. and Mrs. Christianity returned on Tuesday from their trip through the state, Mrs. Christianity looking and feeling very much rested after her winter's work.

Mrs. E. D. Chapman is visiting with Mrs. Howes until her house on the Jordan homestead is ready for her to move in.

The five hundred club will meet at the Rikemans' on Thursday evening and hereafter at one of the homes of the members as the numbers have been reduced to a parlor size.

The Aldrich bungalow in Norwood is progressing rapidly and will be a very attractive one. W. V. Carter is working on the job.
